

Erector of Temporary Structures

An Erector or Supervisor of Temporary Structures sets up and dismantles large tents, marquees, stages, scaffolding, seating stands, equipment platforms, towers and pre-fabricated buildings. This can be physically demanding and often involves working at heights and under difficult environmental conditions (high winds, soft ground, etc). Supervisors need the experience and technical knowledge to manage the erection and dismantling of large structures in a pre-planned and controlled way. A solid understanding of workplace safety requirements is essential.

There are two classes of registration:

Erector or Supervisor of Temporary Structures — Class 1 (V1)

Applicant has adequate knowledge and experience in the erection, maintenance and dismantling of stages, seating stands or equipment platforms and towers.

Erector or Supervisor of Temporary Structures — Class 2 (V2)

Adequate knowledge and experience to erect, dismantle, or supervise the erection or dismantling of tents, marquees and pre-fabricated buildings over 100 square metres in floor area.
